CENTRAL KY WARRIORS

Over the last four years the Central KY Warriors have solidified themselves as one of the best teams in the country. Traveling across the country, seeking the best tournaments and the best competition has rewarded this team. This is a team that plays a full game; never are they out of a game. This season the Warriors won their fifth consecutive AAU State Championship. The victory guaranteed the Warriors the #5 overall seed for the National Championship. This team is anchored by it's steady, do everything, guard Christen Cunningham, versatile swing players, Trey Grundy and Jordan Green, as well as dominant post players Dylan Portwood, Mustafa Diaw and Michael Collier. Talent runs deep on this team. Teddy Ware and Ryan Dishman are almost automatic from 3-point range, while Donnie Lewis, Alex Miller, Jordan Henry and Craig Randall provide intensity on defense and slashing ability on offense. This team is poised and ready to make another run for the championship this season in Hampton, VA!

ARKANSAS MUSTANGS

Two national championships in three years. What else can be said? The 2008 Mustangs, the defending National Champions in this age division, bring their brand of antagonizing pressure and skillful offensive production to the bluegrass area for the first time. The Mustangs continued their dominance in the state of Arkansas, winning their fourth consecutive state championship this year, thereby locking up the #1 overall seed for the National Tournament. The Mustangs are led by a pair of phenomenal guards, twins Frederick & Kendrick Lee as well as, premiere post players Dorien Holland and Jalil Okafur. A strong, deep and talented bench enables the Mustangs to play in an up-tempo style that is fast and entertaining.

HOUSTON SELECT 2014

What a great year the Houston Select 2014 team is off to! The success of this team's last four years has been amazing. With their share of ups and downs, triumph and heartaches, they have continued to work together and play together in their strive for success. The Houston Select 2014 12U Team is serious about basketball. They really, really do compete!

This year marks the fourth season of this team's existence. Select's 6th grade year is truly proving to be "The Year of a Champion". Some of the tournament titles they have this year include: Las Vegas Easter Classic, Kingwood Classic, Maryland Invitational Tournament, Chicago Super Regional, South Texas Shootout Gold and the King James Classic.

BAYLOR BLUECHIP

Big, fast, powerful, strong, athletic, skilled. Take your pick, any of those adjectives would describe this team. Formerly known as the Merrillville Magic, Baylor exploded onto the AAU scene in this age division last season and made a nice run at the National Tournament. This season, after winning the Indiana AAU Championship, with relative ease, Baylor heads to Hampton with the #8 overall seed.

INDY ICE

Although the core group of kids on Indy Ice has been playing together for the past 4 years, 2007-2008 marks their second year together as an AAU team. Indy Ice has a reputation for tenacious defense and competitive play every time they step on the court. They have had some setbacks the early part of this season, but they continue to work to get back to becoming one of the premier defensive teams in the country. So, don't sleep and get got, Indy Ice is comin' for that number one spot!! ICE DDD!!!!

NORTHERN KY TARHEELS

The goal of the Northern Kentucky Tarheels AAU Program is excellence. Excellence is what they provide. Known for their full out assault on both ends of the court, this team's relentless pressure has the tendency to cause teams to fold early in games. The Northern Kentucky Tarheels have been in existence for many years and they consistently compete at a high level. The Tarheels have attended the AAU National Championship each of the past four years. Though the Tarheels have not won a championship yet, they continue to strive for excellence. The Tarheels, fresh off their runner up finish in the King James Classic in Arkon last month, are led by Zachary McCormick, a versatile, well-rounded player with great hops, Brandon Hatton, one of the best pure shooters in this age group, and guards Quinton Snider and Jalen Avery.

GEORGETOWN THUNDER

Georgetown Thunder is a successful basketball program, having qualified for the AAU National Championship for four consecutive years and finishing 2nd in the Division 2 AAU National Tournament in 2005. They have won over 30 tournaments since the inception of the program, and finished 2nd in the Division I KY State AAU Tournament in 2007. Based in the tradition rich community of Scott County, the Thunder is in preparation for 13U AAU Nationals to be held in Memphis next month. Watch out for probably the best guard in the WNP, Quin Richardson, as well as, shooters Mason Monroe and Landon Young.

FAIRFAX STARS

One of the premiere, established programs in the country features a strong national contender in the 12U/6th Grade boys AAU division. After finishing 13th in the nation last season, the Stars Boys 12U Gold returns eight players and welcomes five newcomers to the team this season. Last season the Stars finished with the Bronze medal in the always difficult Potomac Valley District. They have followed last season's successful campaign with a fourth place finish at the district championship for 2008.

INDY BLAZE

Although the Indy Blaze players have been playing ball for many years, they are new to the AAU circuit. The team was formed in February 2008. The goal of the program for these young men is to motivate them to stay in school, by creating a vision of excellence and achievements through the incentive of basketball at a high competitive level. They aim to provide their kids with the opportunity to "blaze" life's trail by building foundation of sportsmanship and team comradery. As they continue to build bridges off the court, they are succeeding on the court as well, as evidenced by their fourth place finish in the 2008 Indiana State AAU competition!

ADAMSVILLE J-SMOOVE

J-Smoove, from the basketball rich city of Atlanta, GA, has become a dominant contender on the AAU circuit. Last year's National Runner Up for this age division is off to an impressive start for this AAU season. Style of play for this team is indicative of their athletic talent. Don't be fooled though, J-Smoove is well schooled in the fundamentals of the game and very capable of playing any style of basketball. The team returns several members of the 2007 National Silver medal winning team with a few nice additions to the already loaded roster. The 2008 Champions of the GA AAU District will participate in the National Tournament as the #6 overall seed.

Head Coach: Tommy Slaughter

THE SHIRLEY ALLEN CUNNINGHAM, JR.,
FAMILY FOUNDATION

The Shirley A. Cunningham, Jr., Family Foundation (SACFF) was established to enhance the total academic, athletic and leadership abilities of area youth. Activities at the SACFF started well over 15 years ago with the sponsorship of several basketball teams for boys. Over the years, girls' basketball teams were added. It is common that participants will start with a team at approximately 7 years of age and continue team participation through middle school. Repeatedly, the teams have ranked among the top 25 in the nation for Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Leagues. A lifelong dream and milestone for the Foundation was achieved in late 2002 with the opening of the 12,000 square foot state of the art facility to house the SACFF.

The Central KY Warriors AAU club has been formed to provide Central KY boys with above average basketball skills, a chance to play on a team with other competitive players, and against other competitive teams. We are members of the national AAU and Kentucky AAU organizations.

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Central KY Warriors is to provide the youth of the Lexington and Central Kentucky community with the opportunity learn and enjoy basketball at the highest competitive level. Our program is designed to develop skillful play, promote good sportsmanship, team spirit, and team loyalty. The Central KY Warriors demand a high degree of ethical conduct by all its coaches, players, volunteers, and parents so that it provides a positive example for the community, the opponents, and it's participants, in our players' growth and development into adulthood.

It is the further mission of the Central KY Warriors to cooperate and participate with other youth basketball organizations currently operating youth basketball programs including but not limited to AAU, AACC, BCI, USTOC, and YBOA.
